winning Ohio Lottery ticket last week worth a guaranteed $15,000. Also pictured are Mrs. Insko and Car-Shine owner John Rhoad.

Leesburg man wins $15,000

Lottery winners becoming monthly occurrence here

By SANDY FOSSON

Believe it or not — it is another Ohio Lottery story!

The Car-Shine Auto Wash at 1220 Columbus Ave., has become the newest winning ticket agent after selling the third $15,000 ticket in Fayette County this year to make winning lottery tickets an every month occurrence in the Washington C.H. area.

Although a Highland Countian, Sherman Insko, 51, Leesburg, has worked at Mac Tools, Inc., in Washington C.H. for six years, he purchases weekly lottery tickets from the local car wash.

Last week, the ticket car wash manager Sylvia Elliott sold to Insko turned out to be a winner — a big winner.

Insko is now eligible for the Buckeye 300 drawing, televised each Thursday evening from Cleveland, in which he could win up to $300,000.

Insko said he had been planting potatoes in his small garden plot last Thursday night when his wife called him in to watch the weekly lottery drawing.

"I thought he was going to have a heart attack," wife Mabel said when the announcer repeated the double winning combinations. "I asked him if he won and he couldn't say anything!

"He didn't sleep any that night," she added. "At one in the morning, he was up scrambling eggs."

Mrs. Insko said Sherman insisted that she "guard this with your life and don't let it out of your sight" when he left the ticket in her hands as he departed for work.

But Insko stopped off at the car wash Friday morning before reporting to Mac Tools to make sure he hadn't been dreaming about the winning numbers.

"I thought it was all a mistake when I got there and the numbers weren't the same," he said.

Sylvia explained that the new lottery numbers had not been changed yet on the car wash's bulletin board and that one of the previous week's winning double numbers was also 107.

John Rhoad, owner of the car wash, said Insko was the first winner over $20 at the business. He said Insko had been a regular customer at the auto wash since the business was established in the summer of 1970.

Friday evening, Insko again stopped off at the car wash to get directions to the Columbus office of the Ohio Lottery Commission for verifying his winning ticket. Sylvia said she "tried unsuccessfully" to capitalize on his new-found wealth by charging him $106 instead of $6 for gas. "All he said was 'don't forget my free car wash,'" she stated.

Asked what he planned to do with his guaranteed $15,000 earnings, Insko said he'd "pay off some of the bills and make the mailman happier — he's had to do a lot of work with me."

And if he should win the top $300,000 prize, "I'll finish paying off the rest of my bills," Insko laughed. He also said a vacation would probably be in store.

"But I'll be back to work the next day," he added. Calling himself "just a country boy," Insko said he did not intend to let $15,000 or even $300,000 change his normal lifestyle.

Insko has three children, Larry Britain, 28, a foreman at Mac Tools, Inc., Mrs. Marilyn Allen of Leesburg and John Britain of Indianapolis, Ind.

Rhoad said, "Sylvia and one or two others from the car wash will probably go up to Cleveland to support our man" in the Buckeye 300 drawing.

Bitterly attacks U.S.

Thieu resigns

SAIGON (AP) — With tears in his eyes, President Nguyen Van Thieu announced his resignation tonight in a nationwide television broadcast as North Vietnamese forces pressed closer toward Saigon.

He said South Vietnam could not win militarily and blamed the United States for its failure, saying Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was unable to perceive that the 1973 Paris agreement "led the South Vietnamese people to death."

Although Thieu's ouster had been demanded repeatedly by the Viet Cong as the first step toward a negotiated settlement, there was no indication it would bring an immediate halt to the fighting that has swept closer and closer to Saigon.

Despite Thieu's decision to resign, some U.S. experts say that fighting in South Vietnam so favors the Communist-led forces that it is doubtful they would be willing to negotiate even with Thieu gone.

Thieu himself declared, "There will be more challenges and fierce fighting in the near future."

He named Vice President Tran Van Huong, 71, to succeed to the presidency. Thieu, 52, who has headed the Saigon regime for two terms, or nearly eight years, stepped down as 10 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions threatened Saigon. Radio contact was lost with South Vietnamese forces under heavy attack at Xuan Loc, the gateway to the capital 40 miles east of Saigon, and still another province on the coast 35 miles farther east apparently was about to fall.

There was no immediate reaction from the Viet Cong.

In his televised address, Thieu said, "I told President Nixon and the U.S. Congress that I did not demand an indefinite assistance but only assistance for five years so we can develop our economy."

"I said I was like a newly recovered patient and if I am given enough medicines soon, I will be strong enough. But later the internal affairs of the U.S. prevented the Republic of Vietnam from getting sufficient assistance."

"While the assistance is insufficient and the 300,000 North Vietnamese still in South Vietnam continue to receive tanks and artillery pieces from the Soviet Union and Red China, repair their airfields and establish more infantry divisions, South Vietnam stands under a defensive position, unable to do much, unable to bomb North Vietnam because of the lack of military aid."

"We could not back up our defense lines because we did not have enough helicopters, ammunition, weapons, and we had to retreat, and we were blamed for not being capable of defending the land."

Continuing his bitter attack on the U.S. government, Thieu referring to American troop presence in the South, said:

"Half a million (American) troops and $300 billion can't win over the Communists. The ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) lack of B52s and others means let (South Vietnamese) soldiers die. It is an inhumane act."

Thieu said the United States was the "champion of freedom" and in one year would celebrate its 200th anniversary. He said sarcastically that the $300 million in supplemental aid requested for his government but not yet approved by Congress "was only 10 days of fighting time for U.S. troops here."

He said U.S. aid cuts led to disastrous South Vietnamese retreats and casualties that gave up 50 per cent of South Vietnam's land and half of its 20 million population to the Communist side. Other sources, however, say three-quarters of South Vietnam are under the control of Communist-led forces.

There was speculation that Thieu's successor, Huong, who is in poor health and virtually blind, would resign along with the entire Cabinet and that 61-year-old Tran Van Lam, the president of the Senate, would become president.

Thieu acknowledged in his television address that South Vietnam has lost 50 per cent of its land — other officials put it at 75 per cent — and half of its 20 million population to the Communist side.

Thieu said that in 1973, at the time of the signing of the Paris agreement, he asked the United States to prevent North Vietnamese aggression if there was another "invasion," to recognize Saigon as the sole legitimate government in the South, and to assure sufficient aid for the South Vietnamese to defend themselves.

He said former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew to Saigon then "but guaranteed only the first two points. There was nothing about the third point (aid) and I started to have some doubts."

The first order of business for the new command will be to open negotiations with the Viet Cong for a cease-fire and political talks to end the military debacle that has cost Thieu's government three-fourths of South Vietnam's territory since the first of the year.

The 52-year-old president, who has headed the Saigon regime for 10 years, finally bowed to the inevitable with 10 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong (Please turn to page 2)

Auditor signs pact for soil computation

By SANDY FOSSON

Fayette County auditor Mary Morris reported to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday that she has entered into a contract with the Sabre Systems and Service, Inc. of Dayton for $8,000 to compute each parcel of agricultural land in Fayette County.

Mrs. Morris said the Sabre company, which is also handling the county-wide real estate reappraisal, will compute the acreage of each soil type in agricultural areas of Fayette County on 11 township maps, which the county will furnish at an additional cost of $1,968.20.

With these maps, Mrs. Morris said each soil type on Fayette County agricultural real estate can be computed so that she will then be able to value each tract of land according to a charge prescribed by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals.

The Sabre firm is currently in the process of re-evaluating all real property in Fayette County for tax purposes as required by Ohio law. The reappraisal is expected to be completed in late 1976.

The Ohio Board of Tax Appeals ordered that all real property be assessed at 35 per cent of the "current market value" for each year, beginning with the 1972 tax year.

Thirty counties who have completed reappraisals under the 35 per cent assessment requirement have experienced increases in total real property valuations ranging from 10 per cent in Allen County to 82 per cent in Adams County.

According to Charles A. Calhoun, executive director of the Ohio Public Expenditures Council, real property valuation would have to increase 45.2 per cent in Fayette County to achieve the 35 per cent level of assessment as required by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals.

Fayette County agricultural landowners have an alternative to the method of land reappraisal approved by the Board of Tax Appeals. They may also apply to the county auditor to have their land appraised according to current agricultural use value rather than the "true market value," prescribed by the Board of Tax Appeals.

Mrs. Morris said that application must be made in her office between the first Monday in January and the first Monday in March. To apply, landowners under Ohio law must identify the farm, furnish information on soil types located on the farm, give use capability and the acreage of the farm in crops, pasture, woods, buildings, roads and waste, and pay a $10 application fee.

Through the maps completed by the Sabre company, Mrs. Morris said the agricultural use value will be easily applied to each land parcel in Fayette County.

IN OTHER business Monday conducted by the county commissioners, commission members endorsed a check for $5,400 from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for supplemental reimbursement of the Rattlesnake interchange improvement project.

The commissioners stated they were to meet Monday with engineer M.M. Schirtzinger and Associates, Inc., of Chillicothe for recommendation of accepting the low bid of $65,900, issued by the Dennison Construction Co. of Dayton for construction of the Rattlesnake project.

The commissioners were expected to award the contract later Monday for the enlargement and improvement of the existing facility, by installing a new lift station and modifying the sewage treatment plant.

The commissioners were also to receive bids Monday on the Compton Creek ditch improvement project and announced the Upper Paint Creek Watershed meeting would be held at 8 p.m. in the Soil Conservation Service office on Columbus Avenue.

On the calendar, a meeting on the Sugar Creek Joint ditch with Madison County commissioners is to be held April 24 at 1:30 p.m.; in the county commissioner's office and bids for the new county dog warden vehicle are to be received by 11 a.m. April 28.

Coffee Break . .

THE CEREMONY re-enacting the historic ride of Paul Revere Friday night in Bloomingburg ended just as told in history books.

Kenneth Craig, chairman of the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee, said about 20 high school students, dressed in imitations of British uniforms, including red coats, produced the capture of Revere (Jim Huffman) and his companions.

The students, who were hiding behind parked cars as the riders entered the village, ordered Revere and his two companions to dismount.

The riders were escorted to the village park where a celebration was staged.

HIGH SCHOOL seniors in Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, and Highland counties will have a new college to consider for next fall.

Southern State College, with campuses in Wilmington and Macon, will provide general and technical education for students in our five county area. A two-year associate degree will be awarded upon completion of each Southern State College program.

Southern State will be a community type college which can offer the high school graduate personal attention and counseling, along with a quality education. The high school senior may wish to work next fall and may do so along with a schedule of classes at Southern State. The student may live at home, hold a job, and commute only a short distance to either Southern State campus.

A unique feature that Southern State has to offer is a "third dimension" arrangement with nearby Wilmington College. North campus students will attend education classes at Wilmington College. They will attend technical education classes on the Laurel Oaks Career Development Center. The cost is a mere $15 per quarter hour which helps eliminate the financial worries of many high school seniors.

Approximate cost is $600 per academic year, plus general fees. State and federal financial aid is also available.

Graduation is only a few weeks away for seniors in the Fayette County area and Southern State College may be the perfect educational solution for many undecided students. Applications are available. Call North campus (513) 382-6646 or South campus (513) 695-4421. High school counselors also have applications and information.

Court reviews death penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 200 lives are at stake as the Supreme Court prepares to hear an argument that the death penalty is unconstitutional because it is cruel and unusual punishment.

If the court makes a broad ruling that the death penalty in any form is unconstitutional, more than 200 prisoners on death rows in prisons around the United States would be spared.

The court is hearing oral arguments today in the appeal of Jesse T. Fowler, a 27-year-old janitor from Raleigh, N.C., who shot and killed a friend in July 1973 after an argument that started in a dice game.

Fowler is represented by the Legal Defense Fund, Inc. Arguing his case is Anthony Amsterdam, a law professor at Stanford University.

U.S. Solicitor General Robert H. Bork and North Carolina Deputy Atty. Gen. Jean Benoy will argue in favor of upholding the death penalty.

In a lengthy brief submitted earlier, the defense contends the death penalty is a misfortune that befalls only the "outcasts of society."

The brief states that arbitrary judgments by police, prosecutors, judges and juries still tend to make administration of capital punishment capricious.

Caprice was an important element in the court's 1972 decision in Furman vs. Georgia when a 5-4 majority held that juries acted too capriciously in deciding which men to condemn and which to sentence to life imprisonment.

Because all states with death penalties at that time gave juries that power, all condemned inmates were given life sentences instead as a result of the court's ruling.

Shortly afterwards, states began devising ways to restore the death penalty within the limits of the Furman decision. North Carolina was one of the first to do so, and it removed the element of caprice by making death the only possible penalty for a capital crime.

To date, 70 North Carolinians have been condemned under this mandatory procedure. Of the 30 states that have adopted new death penalty statutes, North Carolina has the largest death-row population.

The brief filed by Benoy, the North Carolina official, defends the rights of the states to protect themselves from an "unbridled criminal element."

Nixon Presidential library would get White House tapes

By The Associated Press

Former President Richard M. Nixon says that if the courts permit, he will give the White House tapes which forced his resignation to a planned Nixon Presidential Library at the University of Southern California.

Announcement of plans to build the library to house tapes, Presidential papers and materials from other periods in Nixon's career was made jointly Sunday by the university and the former chief executive. The acquisition of presidential materials by the library is contingent upon a successful challenge to legislation requiring that all Nixon's presidential materials remain in Washington, D.C.

In other reports concerning Nixon: —Penthouse magazine says that for several months in 1970 a government-employed, foreign-born house painter, "apparently controlled by one of the intelligence agencies," bugged the Oval Office in the White House, perhaps without Nixon's knowledge.

—A former Internal Revenue Service auditor, Ralph F. LaCross, says Nixon's name was expunged from tax records to cover up his underpayment of income taxes. But the former chief of IRS internal security, Francis I.

Geibel, says he ordered Nixon's name removed from tax records because of leaks to the press about Nixon's returns.

—Nixon gives his wife credit for saving his life when he was desperately ill last October, according to the current issue of McCall's magazine. Mrs. Nixon credits God and the doctors.

Final negotiations for the presidential library took place Saturday when Nixon met with USC trustees at the Palm Springs estate of Walter H. Annenberg, ambassador to Great Britain during the Nixon administration.

In a statement released by USC, Nixon noted his legal challenge to the new federal law which gives the government possession of his Presidential papers and bars the General Services Administration from destroying the White House tapes as an agreement between Nixon and the GSA provides.

The USC statement said it would make available to scholars "substantially all the materials accumulated by former President Nixon during his years in public service."

Thieu resigns

divisions threatening Saigon, radio contact lost with South Vietnamese forces fighting a losing battle at Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon, and the apparently imminent loss of still another province on the coast 35 miles farther east.

Sources said South Vietnamese planes lost contact with the government's 18th Division in Xuan Loc early today. The loss of radio communications usually means that a position has been overrun.

Some sources said there was no indication of a retreat from the devastated city. But others said the battered remnants of the 18th Division were pulling out and heading for Saigon.

The North Vietnamese have already cut the road between Saigon and Xuan Loc, and Xuan Loc is no longer considered strategically vital to the defense of the national capital. But the fierce battle has been a test of the South Vietnamese army's determination to fight again, after the swift loss of three-fourths of the country. The loss of this battle would probably further damage the morale of the army and of the population of Saigon.

North Vietnamese tanks and infantrymen continued their advance down the coast to strike at the heart of Ham Tan, the capital of Binh Tuy province. The airfield three miles northwest of the city was attacked just before dawn.

Field reports said civilians and soldiers began evacuating the city Sunday. It appeared the government units were fighting to gain time for the evacuation rather than to defend the city.

If it falls, Binh Tuy will be the 20th of South Vietnam's 44 provinces lost to the Communists this year.

The blackout on news from Cambodia continued, but newsmen along the Thai-Cambodian border could see Khmer Rouge peacefully occupying the border town of Poipet Sunday. The Thai government announced that it will deliver to the new Cambodian government all military equipment brought into Thailand by fleeing Cambodian troops, including dozens of trucks and armored vehicles, several planes, four patrol boats and hundreds of weapons.

About 470 evacuees from Saigon arrived at Clark Air Base in the Philippines as the evacuation of Americans and their Vietnamese dependents accelerated. It was the largest number evacuated in a single day since President Ford ordered nonessential Americans out of Vietnam last Wednesday. U.S. officials said between 2,000 and 2,500 Americans are left.

A Flying Tiger DC8 landed in Guam with 101 Vietnamese nationals who slipped past the Saigon immigration officials. Flying Tiger said they were employees of the airline and of American Express and would be flown to the United States "where Flying Tiger employees have volunteered to take them in."

Traditional school slated next year

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A return to the traditional school concept will be included in the curriculum for students at Dayton's Miami Chapel Elementary School next year as part of the system's desegregation plan.

The program calls for a minimum of such noise as ringing bells, changing of classes and hallway chatter.

"There have always been traditional schools," said University of Dayton education professor Ed Gay, "but it's been since the '60s that they've re-emerged and are popular."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of mailing a letter is in the balance as contract talks begin between the Postal Service and four unions representing 600,000 workers.

Postal officials have said the cost of the settlement will help fix the size of the postal rate increase planned later this year.

In the talks that begin today, the unions are determined to win a hefty hike in wages and benefits in what the Ford administration says is "the most important collective bargaining agreement" this year.

Because the settlement will be watched closely by other unions facing negotiations later this year and in 1976, the Council on Wage and Price Stability has announced it will "monitor" the talks for their potential inflationary impact.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has warned that "an excessive pay package coming out of collective bargaining would contribute to price inflation" and could lead to job losses.

The Postal Service expects to wind up the current fiscal year June 30 with a deficit of more than $800 million. Although officials are concerned that higher rates could lead to a decline in mail usage and further reduce revenues, they have already announced the need to increase the price of a first-class 10-cent stamp to 12 or 13 cents.

The exact amount hinges on the size of the new contract, they say.

Congress takes up Vietnam aid plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, having let President Ford's deadline for Vietnam aid pass, is expected to make key decisions this week on aid to beleaguered South Vietnam and the possible use of U.S. troops in evacuations from that country.

The Senate takes up today a $200 million humanitarian-evacuation package, with a final vote anticipated Tuesday. The House takes up Tuesday a $327 million relief-evacuation plan with fewer restrictions on the use of U.S. armed forces, compared to the Senate bill.

President Ford had asked Congress to approve $722 million in emergency military aid and $250 million in humanitarian aid for South Vietnam by last Saturday. Not only did Congress let the requested deadline pass without acting but it appears unlikely that Ford's request for more military aid will win approval.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, said Sunday that as soon as Ford made the request, "it was quite apparent that that was a lost cause." Anderson, speaking on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said he opposes any more military assistance to Vietnam and that he does not believe Congress will approve any.

The President's request will be considered before the 3½ Armed Services Committee Tuesday. The House Appropriations Committee, considering separate legislation to provide actual funding for military and humanitarian aid, hears today from Secretary of State A. Kissinger and Tuesday from Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, Army staff chief.

The $200 million humanitarian-evacuation bill before the Senate was approved 14 to 3 Friday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

It would authorize, subject to the provisions of the 1973 war powers act, the use of U.S. troops to evacuate American citizens from South Vietnam, if necessary for their safety.

It also would permit the same troops

The traditional school, according to director of elementary education Bill Stolle, is like the schools many parents remember. Students from throughout the city can attend the school, which has a capacity of 700.

"Classes are self-contained," he said. "Students spend the day with one teacher, although there may be visiting music or art teachers. The same person teaches you all your subjects."

Gay said the traditional concept appears to offer more discipline. "Students are talking to the teacher only. That teacher represents authority much like the parent."

According to Gay and fellow education professor John Geiger, the movement toward the traditional school started with conservative whites, but is now also popular with blacks.

School officials are surprised at the response to the concept. Miami Chapel is an all-black school in a black neighborhood.

"But a lot of whites are expressing an interest in going there," said John Hertvik, a Dayton school official.

Postal talks open; rate boost seen

The current pact expires July 21, but because of long ratification procedures, bargainers will be pressed to reach a settlement several weeks earlier. The unions are prohibited by law from striking, but several have adopted a "no-contract, no-work" stance.

Involved in the talks along with the Letter Carriers union are the 300,000-member American Postal Workers Union; the Mailhandlers Division of the Laborers International Union with 47,000 members, and the 46,000-member National Rural Letter Carriers Association.

Bernard Cushman, chief negotiator for the four unions, says that postal workers earn anywhere from 74 cents to $1.94 an hour less than employees of United Parcel Service, the government's chief competitor.

Darrell Brown, Cushman's counterpart at the Postal Service, contends wages are already comparable with private industry.

Postal workers, who won a $1,100-a-year increase two years ago plus semiannual cost-of-living adjustments, currently earn a top of about $12,000, excluding fringe benefits.

In addition to a wage boost, they are expected to seek a higher cost-of-living formula; a 35-hour week with voluntary overtime instead of the current 40 hours with up to two hours a day of mandatory overtime; fully paid life, health and retirement benefits and dental insurance.

Stock list moves up

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices pulled ahead after a hesitant start today, apparently encouraged by internal market forces and the resignation of President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, ahead marginally shortly after the opening, was up 5.17 at 613.60 at noon. Gainers led losers 741 to 418 among the 1,602 issues traded. Activity was brisk.

Brokers said Thieu's resignation had a psychological impact on the market, and offered hope of a political settlement and the orderly evacuation of Americans in South Vietnam.

At the same time, the brokers said the market now seemed to have a momentum of its own, and had in the recent past disregarded events in Southeast Asia.

The market-value index on the American Stock Exchange was up .72 at 84.13.

The Big Board's composite index at noon was up .36 at 46.12.

By The Associated Press
Sunshine was expected to push the mercury into the 40s and 50s across the Buckeye State today and possibly into the 60s along the Ohio River.

The fair weather was associated with a high pressure system located over Wisconsin and Illinois that was expected to continue eastward across Ohio tonight and move to the Atlantic Coast on Tuesday.

Southerly winds trailing this system were expected to bring temperatures a little above normal by Wednesday afternoon.

Meanwhile, readings tonight were forecast to drop to the low 40s and 30s and then rise to the 50s and 60s Tuesday afternoon, along with variable cloudiness.

Chilly conditions continued Sunday across the state, with the weather about a month behind the calendar.

Infant succumbs in house blaze

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A house fire here Saturday has left one infant dead and another injured, authorities said.

The Richland County coroner's office said Timothy Rush, 3, died of smoke inhalation. Mark Bumpus Jr., 2, was hospitalized for the same injury.

The blaze, which extensively damaged the house, apparently was started with a cigarette lighter on a couch, fire fighters said.

Gun show draws 700 exhibitors

More than 700 exhibitors displayed their wares at the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association's first summer show and companion flea market last weekend on the Fayette County Fairground.

Kenneth Craig, president of the sponsoring Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Association, said 227 exhibitors established their displays inside the confines of the Mahan and Fine Arts buildings and another 200 set up their displays for the first time in side the sheep, cattle and 4-H buildings.

Approximately 300 exhibitors braved the gusting winds and chilly temperatures and established their displays at several outdoor locations.

Craig said all sorts of methods of keeping warm were evident on the fairground. Most of the exhibitors were garbed in hooded parkas, and wrapped in blankets, while some took advantage of portable heaters. But one exhibitor erected a small tent, and Craig said it was amusing since the occupant had stuffed scrap paper and paper cups in holes in the canvas. Another exhibitor had erected a portable building.

A Washington C. H. area man won the weekend competition for the best Sharps four-barreled pistol. Craig said the pistol was manufactured by the Sharps Co. during the Civil War era had a point on the hammer which revolved, instead of a revolving cylinder. There were four of the Sharps pistols entered in the competition.

The next gun show will be held May 24-25 on the Fayette County Fairground. Competition has not been announced.

Consumer credit specialist slates speaking engagements

Patricia Woodland, of Perrysburg, a consumer affairs specialist for 187 Master Charge banks in Ohio and bordering states, will be in Washington C.H. Tuesday and Wednesday for six speaking engagements.

Mrs. Woodland, who has addressed civic and club groups, merchant organizations and high school and college classes throughout the region on the wise use of the bank card and other forms of consumer credit, will open her series of talks at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at noon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Following her appearance at the Rotary Club, Mrs. Woodland will speak at Miami Trace High School at 2 p.m. Tuesday and then at 3 p.m. to the staff at the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. Later, she will attend the Ohio Bankers Association legislative conference in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground.

ON WEDNESDAY, Mrs. Woodland will speak at a senior assembly at Washington Senior High School at 10:30 a.m.; speak to members of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce's Downtown Business Association at 1 p.m. in the Farm Bureau auditorium, and address the staff at the First National Bank of Washington C.H. at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Woodland's program was established in 1978 to provide basic information and financial guidelines on the informed use of credit. Many of her speeches have been covered by newspapers in the communities during her appearances, and her radio and television interviews have proved to be informative and interesting.

Mrs. Woodland, a native of Fremont, Ohio, and the daughter of a former bank president there, for the past 20 years has been a homemaker and home economics consultant. She also has been a career college instructor and professional model.

She attended Vassar College and is a graduate of Bowling Green State University with a degree in liberal arts. Mrs. Woodland resides with her husband, Jack, a school administrator, in Perrysburg.

Mrs. Woodland's speaking engagements here were arranged by David Six, marketing director at the First National Bank, and Eli Craig, marketing director at the Huntington Bank.

Opinion And Comment

An aid for the victims

It is a first principle that society has an obligation to its victims. Those who suffer the various bad side effects of a technology deserve special consideration from the great majority who enjoy that technology's benefits.

This generalized comment has a particular bearing on the plight of those rendered all but helpless by accidental causes. They are brought to mind by word of a voice-controlled wheelchair developed at the University of Southern California in Santa Barbara under auspices of the Easter Seal Foundation and the Veterans Administration. It is a fine example of a creative response to the kind of obligation alluded to above.

A team of university electrical and mechanical engineering students has brought to the practical demonstration stage a motorized wheelchair which responds to a variety of commands. The chair is designed primarily for quadriplegics, who are unable to manipulate pushbuttons. With a 16-word vocabulary, such persons can not only move the wheelchair about but also control associated devices including a motorized bed, a newspaper page-turner, a light, and radio and television.

This equipment is not yet available to the public; further testing and refinement are required. Still, it is heartening that it has been developed to this stage. In support of that we quote an observation by Dr. Robert Roemer, principle faculty adviser of the UCSB project: "Such beneficial uses of technology receive wide publicity, yet it's a sadly ironic fact that many of the people most in need of such devices are, in a sense, victims of the misuse of technology through motorcycle, automobile and industrial accidents — causes are taken for granted and generally accepted within the same society. It strikes me as doubly ironic that these individuals should remain unaided by the same combination of science and engineering that laid them low."

WASHINGTON CALLING....By Marquis Childs

School busing

WASHINGTON — Farewell to busing! The roughing-up that Massachusetts' favorite son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, got in Boston the other day was a symptom of the revolt against the forced exchange of pupils from one school to another.

Once No. 1 in the credo of every card-carrying liberal, the benefits of court-ordered integration during the past decade are seen to be highly doubtful. As the experience in South Boston has shown, racial antagonism is accentuated by the attempt to bring black pupils into virtually all white schools.

To challenge the goal was to be just another George Wallace standing in the schoolhouse door with a baseball bat. The tragic fallacy was in assuming that the profound inequities grown up in a society based on dualism of privilege and opportunity between black and white could be remedied by mixing the races in the public schools.

That the divide between the prosperous white suburb and the center city ghetto could be bridged in this way was a tribute to the idealism and the faith of those who over the years worked to that end.

But the inequity in education — the overcrowded, run-down schools and overworked teachers in the ghetto — was only one of the injustices in the dual society and not the principal one. Housing, open spaces, clean air, health, diet, these are the components of inequality that supersede an impoverished education.

In several cities, Detroit; Indianapolis; Topeka, Kan.; Wilmington, Del.; Cincinnati and Tucson, Ariz.; as well as Boston, court cases calling for enforced busing are still pending. A court inquiry has been ordered into 125 school districts in the South, although little is expected to come of this. Congress applied a restraint in a law specifying that pupils could be bused only to the nearest or the next nearest school serving an appropriate grade.

It has become increasingly apparent that behavior patterns, habits of study and thought, are fixed long before the earliest grades. The hope was that a transformation could be worked by bringing together the deprived young with those who had greater advantages.

That a change could be worked on preschool children was the concept behind a program initiated by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson. This was Head Start which is observing its 10th anniversary. Beginning at the age of two or three, children from families at the poverty level were to get special training, an adequate diet and health supervision at day-care centers.

Today there are 379,000 children in the program on a budget of $414 million. Of this number, 70,000 are on an eight-week summer course. In response to a command from Congress, 10 per cent are handicapped or severely handicapped. The age range is from three to seven. The total is between 10 and 12 per cent of children eligible at the poverty level for the special care. A drop in the bucket of need, the program has been criticized on the ground that the children, when they go to regular schools and when they return to the poverty of their background, soon lose the advantages of the two or three years spent in the day-care centers.

While this is not a civil rights program, approximately 60 per cent of the children are black. They are, for the most part, from city centers where schools are under the greatest handicaps. Blacks in recent years have made rapid progress. This is true above all at the top level with a notable assist from federal requirements for minority hiring. Blacks hold a wide range of positions inconceivable a decade ago.

This progress, it is hardly necessary to add, means little in ending the dualism of suburb versus ghetto. As a beginning only a wide-ranging attack on segregated housing would insure a start on a more equitable order. In the present mood of the country, that is not about to happen.

Progress for the few is hardly convincing for the many at the bottom of the heap. Unemployment among young blacks in the center cities ranges from 20 to 25 per cent. Hopefully, they will get summer jobs. But that is a stopgap which can only postpone what must in some distant future be a day of reckoning.

Ohio Perspective

PUCO boost not all good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Public Utilities Commission wants more funds to double its staff and speed action on rate increase requests, but some state lawmakers say they are not so sure this is good.

"The faster you act on them, the faster the rates go up," complained Rep. John P. Wargo, D-2 Lisbon, to all three commission members before a House finance subcommittee.

Wargo and others, including veteran Rep. Ethel G. Swanbeck, R-72 Huron, have been beset with constituent protests about sharply-rising utility bills. Acknowledging inflation, the energy crunch, and other related problems, Mrs. Swanbeck said, "We still don't know what to tell them back home."

Commissioner Sally Bloomfield, senior member of the embattled agency which goes under legislative investigation later this year, sought to explain the need for more staff.

The alternative, she said, are for things to continue as they are, with "cases dragging on for years and then finally the consumer has to pay a big increase, 25 per cent or maybe more."

It would be better to have hikes come in small increments, she said. The commission seeks an increase from its present biennial appropriation of $8.1 million to $15.9 million for the two-year fiscal period which begins July 1. She said it would enable the hiring of about 100 more employees, and cut the average time for deciding a rate case from 22 months to about nine months.

Wargo said he still wasn't satisfied, particularly in view of complaints he is receiving from the elderly and others on fixed incomes in his eastern Ohio district. He had Mrs. Bloomfield concede under questioning that the increased assessments on the utility companies—to make up most of the new budget outlay—would be passed along to the consumer.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, raised questions about the PUCO's request this time for a $2.5 million appropriation from general revenue funds to round out the $15.9 million.

Mrs. Bloomfield said it is primarily to permit the commission to absorb the functions of the temporary Ohio Energy Emergency Commission when it goes out of existence Jan. 1.

Speck said he wasn't being "argumentative," but "just wanted the public to know" that the agency is seeking for the first time to dip into tax revenues to operate. He knows what can happen, Speck said, "once the camel gets his nose into the tent." Historically, the PUCO has operated with its own revenues.

Despite the questioning, the commission's budget so far appears to be in no serious trouble. Questions will be resolved, in any case, before a committee of eight senators and eight representatives completes its probe of rate-making and other policy matters of the commission and reports its findings back to the legislature Oct. 15.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

The classic triangle: boss husband - zero

DEAR ABBY: I have no one to talk to, so I am going to cry on your shoulder, if you'll let me.

It's an old story. An affair that never should have started. Nine years ago I fell in love with my boss. (We were both married. (I had always been a good wife and mother, and had a religious background, but I wasn't strong enough to resist this man.)

After eight years of deceiving my husband, I filed for a divorce and told my husband everything. My lover told me that he would do the same. Well, you know the rest. He never did. So now I am divorced, and I don't have my husband or my lover.

I have prayed to God to help me stop loving this married man because now I know that he will never leave his wife and family.

Will I ever get over this, Abby? I desperately need some encouragement. Maybe this letter will keep some other woman from making the same mistake that I did.

WEAK AND FOOLISH

DEAR WEAK: Yes, you will get over it, but not until you stop dwelling on the past and blaming yourself for your "foolishness" and weakness.

There is a lesson to be learned here: "Don't discard the old kettle until your sure the new one holds water."

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to the woman who was so deeply in debt was all right as far as it went, but it didn't go far enough.

We were also in debt over our heads. Then we heard about Consumer Credit Counseling Service, which turned out to be the answer to our prayers.

It is a non-profit agency that will figure your wages and debts, and contact all your creditors who usually are willing to cut your payments down to where you can handle them. Then every payday, you pay the Consumer Credit people a set amount and THEY pay off your bills. That way you don't have any creditors hounding you, and you keep your self-respect.

Someone helped me by telling me about Consumer Credit; now it's my turn to help others.

GRATEFUL IN OREGON

DEAR GRATEFUL: Apparently, Consumer Credit Counseling has been a good friend to many because yours was one of many letters I received recommending it. Thanks for writing. I'll spread the word.

DEAR ABBY: Re the college student who wouldn't shower regularly to the displeasure of those who had to live with him. In 1951, during basic training, my company commander told me about a soldier who had not bathed in 13 weeks. (This included two weeks of bivouac!) he asked me to see to it that that smelly soldier got a daily shower or else.

I got five of the strongest men I could find, and we approached this unwashed soldier and told him that if he didn't get into the shower, we would get him into one. He refused, so we stripped him and carried him bodily into the shower. The others held him while I proceeded to scrub him with a G.I. scrub brush. Halfway through the bath, he pleaded for mercy and promised to finish the rest himself. He did and after that, he was Mr. Clean. Harsh? Perhaps. But it served a purpose.

BIRMINGHAM LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: Now that's what I call a reasonable man under the circumstances.

Today In History

Today is Monday, April 21, the 111th day of 1975. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: In 753 B.C., tradition has it that Rome was founded by Romulus.

On this date— In 1509, Henry VIII became King of England, on the death of Henry VII. In 1832, the Black Hawk Indian War began along the upper Mississippi.

In 1836, Texans led by Gen. Sam Houston defeated a Mexican force in the Battle of San Jacinto.

In 1954, U.S. Air Force planes began flying French troops from France to Indochina to bolster the French bastion at Dien Bien Phu.

In 1966, surgeons in Houston, Texas, made the first implant of an artificial heart in a human.

In 1967, the Greek army seized control of the government in Athens and set up military rule.

Ten years ago: South Carolina Gov. Donald Russell announced he would resign to be appointed to the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death of Olin Johnston.

Five years ago: Cambodia asked for military aid in a note to President Richard Nixon.

One year ago: Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago began his 20th year as the city's mayor. Today's birthdays: Queen Elizabeth of Britain is 49. Actor Anthony Quinn is 60.

Thought for today: Laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Blue Shield hike probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Insurance Director Harry Jump has called Blue Shield representatives to a hearing in his office today to explain recent rate increases.

Although state law makes no provision for such a hearing, Jump said he scheduled the session after numerous citizen protests of rate hikes, especially in the Cleveland area.

Blue Shield must notify the Insurance Department of rate increases, but the department has no power to rule on them.

"Since it is the intention of this office that Ohio insurance consumers know where they stand, I have decided to go ahead anyway with a meeting on the Blue Shield increases, even without specific authority under state law, Jump said."

Blue Shield is a major provider of hospital surgical insurance.

Chenault supported

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati Vice Mayor William Chenault, who is under indictment on charges of embezzlement and theft-in-office, has gained the support of a group of unidentified black leaders organized by an aide to Cincinnati Mayor Theodore M. Berry.

Stephen Reece announced the support in a brief statement issued Saturday. He declined to identify the others, saying the members asked to remain anonymous.

According to the statement, the committee reviewed the allegations against Chenault and remains convinced the black leader is innocent.

Reece said the group plans to back Chenault "both morally and financially."

Chenault was indicted by a Hamilton County grand jury on charges of embezzlement, theft-in-office, and four misdemeanor counts of falsifying vouchers.

Ohioan killed in auto crash

By The Associated Press
Two out-of-state men were killed Saturday in separate accidents in West Virginia, state police said.

Charles E. Fields, 38, of Laura, Ky., died in a one-vehicle accident on U.S. 52 near Williamson. State police said he was crushed when his pickup truck overturned on him after plunging into a roadside ditch.

Kenneth W. Able, 26, of Zanesville, Ohio, was killed when his motorcycle struck two trees on a secondary road near Farmington, state police said.

Broadway's top shows gain Tonys

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Wiz," a swinging black musical based on one of childhood's favorite fables, and "Equus," a taut British drama about a youth crazy over horses, are Broadway's champion shows of the 1974-75 season.

Top individual winners of the coveted silver medallions for "outstanding achievement" which were announced during elaborate ceremonies Sunday night included Ellen Burstyn, repeating her Oscar triumph; and in joint citation, John Kani and Winston Ntshona.

In their South Africa homeland the pair are able to work on stage only under an employment subterfuge as "house servants."

Angela Lansbury and John Cullum were named the year's star musical performers.

Besides being chosen as the best musical, "The Wiz" scooped up six of the other 17 competitive trophies. Peter Shaffer's "Equus," the best drama, also won a directing prize for John Dexter.

The virtual blitz of tune show honors by the Afro rhythm version of "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz", and the Kani-Ntshona victory highlighted an otherwise easily predictable sequence of the triumphs which took place on the stage of the Winter Garden theater during a two-hour telecast over the ABC-TV network.

The Tonys, officially the Antoinette Perry Awards, are voted upon in secret ballot by about 450 representatives of all branches of the stage profession, under the auspices of the New York League of Theaters and Producers, in association with the American Theater Wing. They are Broadway's counterparts of Hollywood's Oscars.

Geoffrey Holder was the evening's only double winner, taking both musical director and costume designer awards for "The Wiz." The show's other victors were Ted Ross and Dee Dee Bridgewater, for supporting actor and actress; Charlie Smalls, best score; and George Faison, choreographer.

The dramatic acting award to Kani and Ntshona, the first joint citation in Tony history, was for their performances in two plays which they co-authored with Athol Fugard, "Sizwe Bansi Is Dead" and "The Island." The dramas examine aspects of black existence under the apartheid laws of their homeland.

Ellen Burstyn said she was accepting her trophy also on behalf of Charles Grodin, the only other performer in "Same Time, Next Year," who did not get a nomination.

Supporting drama acting Tonys went to Frank Langella of "Seascape," and Rita Moreno in "The Ritz." She seemed slightly unhappy about her category, declaring "the only thing I support in the show is my beads." Miss Lansbury took the star musical actress award, the third Tony of her career, for the revival of "Gypsy."

CCL Federation to dissolve as of May 8

The Fayette Federation of the Child Conservation Leagues voted to dissolve when representatives of the seven Fayette County leagues met at Anderson's Restaurant Thursday evening. The nominating committee for the year, composed of Mrs. John Marcum, chairman, Mrs. Frank Dill and Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, was unable to secure candidates for Federation officers.

A letter, to be composed by the executive board of the Federation, will be sent to the State OCCL President, and the District President, stating the intention of the group to dissolve as of May 8, 1975.

Mrs. Arthur Schaefer, president, opened the meeting with two appropriate readings and final reports were presented by Mrs. Martin O'Cull and Mrs. George Smith. Correspondence pertaining to the success of the Spring Conference held recently at MTHS was read from state officers, panel members and ROTC members. It was announced that reservations for the Spring Banquet, to be held at the Washington Country club at 6:30 p.m.

(prompt), May 7, must be made by April 30 with each league treasurer ($3.50), and cancellations may be made up to May 3. It was also announced that Alpha League will be in charge of the Spring Banquet for 1976, with committee members from each of the other six leagues participating.

The philanthropic project of the group is to donate $50.00 to a girl or boy from Miami Trace and Washington Senior High Schools, to defray graduation expenses, and to also make a cash donation to the Fayette Progressive School.

The 16 members present represented Alpha-Mrs. Russell Liston; Beta - Mrs. Billie Jamison, Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Mrs. Gilbert Crouse and Mrs. O'Cull; Gamma - Mrs. Ladrach and Mrs. Philip Ford; Zeta - Mrs. Rhoda Gilmore; Delta - Mrs. Tom Mossbarger, Mrs. Ferrol Lewis, Mrs. Schaefer and Mrs. Roger Rapp - Grades to Grads - Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Virginia Keim, and Mrs. Carroll Ritenour; and Progressive Heirs - Mrs. Fred Doyle.

'Spring Gardening Day' planned at Kingwood Center

Kingwood Center will present its annual 'Spring Gardening Day' on Sunday, April 27th from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Exhibits, demonstrations, lectures by experts, and films have been selected to provide information on home gardening and to give the public an opportunity to ask questions about individual gardening problems. All events are free and open to the public. Among the groups helping with this year's Spring Gardening Day are: The Ohio Agricultural Extension Service, Ohio Edison, The Kingwood Chapter of the Indoor Light Gardening Society, The Mansfield Men's Garden Club, The Kingwood Roseradi Society, The Kingwood Rose Society, and The Kingwood Herb Society. The entire staff of Kingwood will also be on hand to answer questions on gardening topics.

Lectures on four currently popular gardening subjects - vegetables, herbs, Bonsai, and freezing and canning - will be presented in the Exhibit Hall.

1. Vegetable Gardening: 1:00 p.m. - an introductory lecture and demonstration on preparing soils, good varieties to use, and basic pest control.

2. The Art of Bonsai: 2:00 p.m. - lecture and demonstration on the history and art of bonsai. The lecturer will also demonstrate the equipment needed, and show how to create a bonsai from nursery stock.

3. Herb Gardening: 3:00 p.m. - a lecture and demonstration on the medicinal and culinary uses of herbs and their basic cultural requirements as well.

4. Freezing and Canning: 4:00 p.m. - This lecturer will explain and demonstrate the latest techniques in canning and freezing. These skills are particularly useful for the home gardener.

Three films will be shown in the Assembly Room of Kingwood Hall. They are: "Kingwood Center, Beauty for All Seasons", an award-winning film on the year-round attractions of Kingwood. It will be shown at 10 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m. "Dyeing with Plants", a film produced by the Brooklyn Botanic Garden depicting methods and techniques used in dyeing cloth using natural plant materials. This film can be seen at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. "On the Third Day", a beautiful motion picture featuring the vast array of wild flowers native to South Africa. Starting times for this film are: 11 a.m., 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Exhibits and demonstrations will be held in the meeting hall and workshop from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The featured subjects are: Preparing Hanging Baskets, Contemporary Perennials, Pruning Tools and Methods, Planting Trees and Shrubs, Basic Indoor Light Gardening, Plant Propagation, The Nature Study Programs at Kingwood, and Using the Kingwood Library.

Visitors to 'Spring Gardening Day' will also be able to enjoy a fine display of spring flowering plants, especially Kingwood's extensive collection of daffodils. As a special treat, members of the Kingwood Garden Center Committee will be serving sassafras tea to all visitors as a spring tonic.

Kingwood Center is easily reached by Interstate 71, U.S. Route 30, or Ohio Route 13. In Mansfield, follow the signs.

F. E. Kallembach

WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE

AT Washington Motor Inn - Wednesday

April 23, 1975.

HOURS: 1 P.M. TO 8:30 P.M.

A. W. Hensley Shows He Regrew Hair. He Did Not Have Male Pattern Baldness.

F. E. Kallembach will be back in Washington Court House, Ohio again Wednesday, April 23, 1975.

Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every man and woman now losing hair should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION.

GUARANTEED

You will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from the beginning to the end.

CAN'T HELP

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Ebb Hair Specialists cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss?

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION

Just take a few minutes of your time on Wednesday, April 23, 1975, and go to the Washington Motor Inn, Washington Court House, Ohio between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for F. E. Kallembach's room number.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

There is no charge or obligation. All consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

Overflow crowd attends finale of MT musical

Area residents attended the "Music Man" at Miami Trace High School Saturday night in such large numbers that many found standing room only. More than 1,300 persons watched while the Music Man (John Schlichter) began a con game of selling instruments and band uniforms to the residents of River City, Iowa, under the pretense that he was about to organize a city band. He had already outfitted several other cities and then left without staying long enough for the first rehearsal.

In River City, however, he fell in love with a local librarian (Patty Bick) and truly becomes the Music Man he promised.

Mrs. Rick (Cinda) Stinson, director of the play, said she was pleased with both the overflow crowd and the actors' performances. She cited Doug Joseph's rendition of "Shipooi!" as one of the play's highlights. He sings a solo while accompanied by the chorus and dancers.

Other outstanding songs included "Gary Indiana" by Brad Maust; "Till there was You" by Miss Bick and Schlichter, and the "Wells Fargo Wagon" sung by the chorus. The star performer during the latter selection was a horse which pulled a Wells Fargo Wagon through the turn-of-the-century town. All of the scenery was constructed under the direction of Rick Stinson.

"Everyone just did a super job," Mrs. Stinson said. She noted that the fine performances did not simply happen. "The tryouts for the play were held in January, and everybody really worked hard at his role," she said. "They have played them so often, most of them seem just as natural in their roles as they are off the stage," she added.

Mrs. Stinson also said she and members of the cast were most appreciative of the fine response by area residents. "It really gave the students a lift to have so many people come to the play," she concluded.

Vo-ind clubs end weekend meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Vocational Industrial Clubs of America members closed their weekend convention Saturday with the selection of national officer candidates.

National candidates from Ohio are: Lynn Evans, Patterson Co-op High School, Dayton, president; Keith Misch, Mayfield High School, Cleveland, vice-president; Denise Hendricks, Whitmer High School, Toledo, secretary.

Also, Kimberly Kinnear, Patterson Co-op, treasurer; Mary Lee Rammell, Eastland Vocational Center, Groveport, parliamentarian and Pamela Foster, Eastland, Region 1 vice president.

Some 2,000 students from 80 Ohio schools participated in the weekend meeting.

Salary proposal on board slate

The Washington C.H. Board of Education will meet tonight to consider a new proposal to increase the salary increment for supervisors of special activities, including athletics, drama and music.

Several other major items will also be presented for discussion. A program of accelerated mathematics which was submitted by math teachers and counselors at the last board meeting will again be on the board agenda. The matter was tabled when last brought to the board.

Members will discuss renovation of the Middle School home economics department. The proposal would include remodeling of the present kitchen area.

Gary Shaffer, head basketball coach at Washington Senior High School, has requested that the board allow him to hold three one-week basketball clinics for fifth through tenth graders. Three different age groups would be able to attend the clinic for one week each. Varsity basketball players and city coaches would be in charge.

The coach has also asked that the Washington Senior High School gymnasium be opened to all city school students on Tuesday and Thursday nights during the months of June and July.

Trustees may keep chancellor

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Antioch College board of trustees say they are disappointed with the firing of Chancellor Francis X. Shea and could take action Saturday to reverse that decision.

Shea was fired last week by Antioch President James P. Dixon after the president said he lacked confidence in Shea's fiscal management.

Trustees of the southwestern Ohio campus could direct Dixon to reverse the firing, but Trustee Ben Gray of Cleveland said there is no doubt Dixon had the authority to fire Shea.

The ex-chancellor was hired last year to direct the Yellow Springs campus.

Astros, Reds split twinbill

CINCINNATI (AP)—At 6-foot-8, J.R. Richard ranks as one Texas' tallest skyscrapers. He cast a long shadow on the Cincinnati Reds Sunday as the Houston Astros snapped a seven-game losing streak.

"We were beginning to wonder if someone had put a hex on us," said Richard after preventing a Reds sweep of the four-game series.

"I hope we finally got the monkey off our backs," he added. With Richard limiting the Reds to five hits before yielding in the ninth, the Astros held on to snuff out another late-inning Cincinnati charge for a split of a doubleheader.

"We kept saying what in the world are we doing wrong. But I kept thinking positive. I told the guys before the game 'I'm going to win this one,'" said the 25-year-old pitcher.

Richard had the Reds shaking their heads before the game even got started.

"Can you imagine how tough he's going to be in twilight shadows?" lamented Pete Rose at the prospect of facing the high-velocity righthander. The Reds had won the first game, rallying in the ninth for their sixth come-from-behind victory on Rose's two-run opposite field home run to shatter a 3-3 deadlock. It was Rose's fourth hit of the game.

Astros' Manager Preston Gomez credited the victory in the second game to Richard's new attitude and a play designed to score a runner from third without help from the batter.

The Astros were leading 6-1 in the seventh when pinch runner Wilbur Howard, inserted after Cliff Johnson singled, stole second and moved to third on catcher Bill Plummer's errant throw.

Howard took a wide lead off third, then broke for home, faking a steal.

Rookie reliever Wil McEnaney saw the blur out of the corner of his eye.

"It was weird. Three pitches before that I said don't let him take off. I saw him the moment he took off and I kind of panicked," said McEnaney. "It was only the second balk in my life."

Gomez said the Astros have used the play four times this season. "It's worked twice. And this time it proved to be the winning run."

He praised Richard for overcoming a game-long case of wildness which resulted in nine walks. "His attitude is 100 per cent better this year," said Gomez. "He has the arm. There's no question about that. But walks have been killing us. Our pitching has just not been consistent."

The Reds roared back again, closing to 7-6 on a three-run ninth inning homer by Joe Morgan, but ex-Red Wayne Granger ended the game by getting pinch-hitting Johnny Bench to strike out.

The victory evened Richard's record at 2-2. Clay Kirby, 0-2, absorbed the loss after allowing five runs in two and two third innings.

Clay Carroll, 3-2, picked up the victory in the opener, with Fred Scherman, 0-1, taking the loss.

The Reds open a two-game stand against San Francisco tonight with Fred Norman, 0-1, facing Mike Caldwell.

Marshall, Buckner injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the National League season started, Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said his Reds and the Los Angeles Dodgers would battle for the Western Division title and "the team which has the fewest injuries should win."

If that statement means anything, the Reds already have an advantage in the battle for the flag.

The Dodgers announced Sunday that strong-armed relief pitcher Mike Marshall and daring left fielder Bill Buckner will join a host of Los Angeles injured.

Already playing without catcher Steve Yeager, outfielder Tom Paciorek and shortstop Bill Russell, the Dodgers said Sunday they may lose Marshall for a week and Buckner for two.

Marshall suffered a separation of rib cartilage on his left side Saturday night after making four pitches. The Cy Young Award winner relieved in the eighth inning, but complained of a stabbing pain in his side and asked to leave.

The club said Buckner's severely sprained ankle had been placed in a cast and that Dodger executives would decide this morning whether to place him on the disabled list.

Ohio all-stars stop Indiana twice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo University basketball coach Bob Nichols, aided by two of his own players, guided Ohio to a pair of victories over Indiana in the annual two-game charity college all-star basketball series.

Horse trading not affected by economy

CHICAGO, Illinois — The national economy may be wobbling, but the demand for harness race horses as reflected in claiming race activity is at an unprecedented high, according to reports issued by the United States Trotting Association. An unusually large number of standardbreds are changing hands via the claiming box in top bracket figures.

At the just-ended Hawthorne Race Course meeting in Chicago, horse owners went on a record-setting spree claiming over 100 horses for more than $1,250,000. Final figures from the latest Yonkers Raceway meet show 78 claims totaled $1,143,500, a record for that track.

Individual claims also have made headlines. At Mohawk Raceway near Toronto, a four-year-old Bret Hanover colt named Trip Mate was claimed for $40,000, a new North American record. Meanwhile, at Hawthorne, pacers Flying Dream N. and Eli Lang were claimed from the same race for $35,000 each.

Claiming races, although part of the harness sport on a sporadic basis since 1920, received their first real impetus at Sportsman's Park in Chicago in 1958.

Chris Evert winner

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Chris Evert says she would like more tournaments like this past weekend's $100,000 World Series of Women's Tennis to which only four players were invited.

But, then why not? She pocketed the $50,000 first prize — the largest sum ever in women's tennis.

During 1974, 3,477 harness horses were claimed, according to the USTA.

Mets take 2 games from Cubs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dave Kingman is giving the New York Mets the kind of consistency at the plate that they had hoped for.

And he's giving them the kind of inconsistency in the field that they'd prayed against.

The erratic Kingman, acquired this past winter from the San Francisco Giants, won one for New York Sunday with his bat but almost lost it with his glove as the Mets took a 4-3 decision to sweep a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs.

After the Mets took an 8-6 victory in the opener, Kingman exploded his fourth home run of the young season in the second game to help New York take a 4-0 lead.

Then the thrills and spills started for Old Ironsides, reminding the fans of the Mets' eccentric teams of the early 1960s.

Relief pitcher Rick Baldwin, who was great in the seventh inning, looked awful in the ninth. He loaded the bases and then gave up a single to Jose Cardenal.

Well, it started out as a single but Kingman let it get past him for an error. As a result, three runs scored and Cardenal wound up on third with the potential tying run. At this point, Baldwin reverted to his sparkling, earlier form and nailed it down for the Mets.

Yogi Berra was as relieved as anyone after the frantic finish.

"It's a good omen," said the New York manager, "that we finally won a doubleheader at home."

The Mets hadn't won a doubleheader at home since August 31, 1973 and at the same time, stopped a seven-game winning streak by Chicago. It didn't distract Chicago Manager Jim Marshall, though.

"We're playing great," he said. "Of course, no one likes to lose. But I can't feel too bad the way we've been going."

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3 in 13 innings; the Atlanta Braves whipped the San Diego Padres 4-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates tripped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 and the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Houston Astros 5-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 7-6. The Philadelphia-Montreal game was postponed by cold.

John Stearns' single capped a three-run rally in the first inning and Ed Kranepool doubled home two runs in a four-run second as the Mets built a 7-0 lead and went on to beat Chicago in the first game.

Giants 6, Dodgers 3
Chris Speier's two-run single capped a three-run rally in the 13th inning, leading San Francisco over Los Angeles. Reliever Geoff Zahn walked Derral Thomas to open the inning. Bobby Murcer then singled and both runners advanced on a wild pitch.

Gary Matthews was intentionally walked to load the bases, Zahn forced in the go-ahead run with a walk to Ed Goodson and Speier singled up the middle to drive in Murcer and Matthews.

Braves 4, Padres 3

Darrell Evans' fourth home run of the season, a two-run shot following Marty Perez' leadoff double in the ninth inning, boosted Atlanta over San Diego.

The victory salvaged one game for the Braves in the three-game series with the vastly improved Padres.

Pirates 5, Cards 0

Rookie right-hander John Denny's error helped Pittsburgh score four runs in the second inning and the Pirates went on to beat St. Louis with the aid of Ken Brett's pitching and hitting. Brett, making his first start of the season, highlighted the Pittsburgh attack with his 10th career major league homer.

Brett also spaced four Cardinal singles, walked two and permitted only two baserunners to reach third before retiring after six innings in favor of Dave Giusti.

Royals trim Rangers; win 2-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals are going so good these days their five-man starting rotation consists of only four pitchers.

The Royals made it five victories in a row and nine out of 10 by trimming the Texas Rangers 2-0 Sunday behind the six-hit hurling of Al Fitzmorris. But their lead in the American League's West Division was cut to 1½ games when the Oakland A's swept a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins 4-1 and 5-1.

Elsewhere, the California Angels trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-4, the Boston Red Sox walloped the Baltimore Orioles 10-2, the Cleveland Indians downed the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4 and the New York Yankees whipped the Detroit Tigers 7-1.

The Royals' victory was their ninth in 11 games, the best start in the club's seven-year history.

"We're winning with good pitching and that's 80 per cent of the game," said Manager Jack McKeon. "We're not tearing the cover off the ball. We're just playing solid, consistent, aggressive baseball."

"Nobody can match our five starters. They might match us 1 and 2, but not five-deep."

The KC starters are Steve Busby, Paul Splitterff, Fitzmorris, Nelson Briles and Bruce Dal Canton ... who hasn't thrown a pitch this season.

Kansas City got its runs in the second inning against Texas' Steve Hargan, who matched Fitzmorris' six-hitter. Hal McRae doubled, George Brett walked and Fred Patek, hitting only .179 entering the game, tripled.

A's 4-5, Twins 1-1
Dave Hamilton, hustled into action when starter Mike Norris hurt his elbow in the first inning, combined with Jim Todd on a seven-hitter and pitched Oakland to a doubleheader sweep. Glenn Abbott stopped the Twins with a six-hitter in the opener.

The A's scored twice against rookie Jim Hughes in the first inning of the nightcap on a walk and singles by Bert Campaneris, Sal Bando and Joe Rudi. They got two more runs in the sixth on singles by Rudi and Claudell Washington, two walks and a sacrifice fly.

In the first game, the A's took ad-

Blue Lion thinclads finish 6th in Unioto Metric meet

UNIOTO — The Washington Blue Lion tracksters boarded a bus Saturday to travel the 18.64 kilometers to Unioto High School. Well, if you're going to run on the 1,600-meter relay team, you might as well ride 18.64 kilometers.

That was the case Saturday at Unioto, when the Blue Lion thinclads participated in the Unioto Metric, where all events are termed in the metric system instead of in yards, feet and inches.

Of course, the different system doesn't make a bit of difference in the field events, where a 42.17 meter discus throw is still 138'-2½" no matter how you look at it, and a 12-foot pole vault isn't a hair higher than 3.569 meters.

In the running events things start to change with some races covering a shorter distance than their metric counterpart while some prove to be longer.

THE 1500-METER run is about 100 yards shorter than its counterpart, the mile run, while the 100-meter dash is about nine yards longer than the 100-yard dash.

Blue Lion Track Coach Richard Crooks said the changes in the length of the various races didn't seem to bother his trackmen as Washington placed right in the middle of the 11-team field with a sixth place finish in the metric.

"The track was well marked and no one seemed to have any problems with the distance change," Crooks said, "although it seemed like a lot of trouble to go through."

Unioto has been holding the Metric for the last five or six years with Saturday being the first time Washington has participated.

One race did bother Crooks' entries, but the metric system had nothing to do with it. The race was the 300-meter low hurdles which is equivalent to the 330-yard low hurdles, an event that has been approved by the Ohio High School Athletic Association and an event that could become a part of most high school track meets in the state next season.

WASHINGTON HURDLERS weren't used to running the hurdles for that long of a distance Crooks said, while his runners were reportedly very tried, when they finished the race.

Adena, a team that frequents Unioto track meets and a team that usually wins them, took first place for the third straight year in the Metric. The class A powerhouse was followed by South Central Ohio League member Hillsboro.

Washington's sixth place finish was highlighted by Greg Marti's 3.569 (12') meter pole vault giving him the top award in that event and Jeff Browns first place finish in the discus with a toss of 42.13 meter (138'-2½").

Marti also placed fourth in the high jump while Brown's discus throw was six inches short of the school record.

Mark Workman placed fifth in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of :17.1 with Ed Dewese picking up two points for the Lions by finishing fourth in the 800-meter.

The 400-meter relay team grabbed a fourth place finish with Jim Vess DeWeese, Huysman and Forsythe carrying the baton.

Defending Class A state long jump champ, Ronnie Lyons of Zane Trace, who the Blue Lions had seen before at Hillsboro Invitational where he won top trackster of the meet honors, showed his championship form by winning the 100-meter, the 200-meter and the long jump in the meet. Lyons won the extended version of the 100-yard dash with a time of :11.1 and he leaped 6.82 meters in the long jump which is a distance somewhere over 22-feet.

Final team standings were: Adena 54½, Hillsboro 44, Waverly 35, Zane Trace 25, Chesapeake 24, Washington, 19½, Unioto 17, Huntington 9½, Greenfield 7, Southeastern 4, and Bishop Flaget 0.

Why should a woman be afraid of either one?

The mighty Bus, like the mini mouse, has quite a reputation for frightening women.

It is a little scary-looking, we admit. But don't be deceived by its Brontosaurus-like appearance.

Even though the Bus can hold almost twice as much as an ordinary station wagon, it's actually three feet shorter. (It looks like someone cut off its tail with a carving knife.) Which means that it's easier to park.

And don't worry about handling. The ride is smooth and easy, even without the optional automatic transmission.

And the Bus's steering wheel needs only two and three-quarter turns, left to right. So it maneuvers like an ordinary, medium-sized car.

You needn't worry about filling it up, either. It has a nibbling appetite. And this year the Bus has fuel injection for even greater economy.

In the recent 1975 Federal EPA fuel economy tests, it averaged 25 miles per gallon on the highway, and 18 miles per gallon in the city.

But what about appearance? Some women are afraid that the Bus is plain and mousey-looking.

Well perhaps that's true, but with prices going higher all the time, a Volkswagen Bus may be the one thing that will help you squeak through.

Speaking of Your Health...

'Bundle Branch' Heart Block

My husband has "bundle branch" block of the heart. I don't understand the condition even though the doctor has tried to explain it.

Mrs. L.Z., Ohio
Dear Mrs. Z.:
Electrical impulses constantly pass through the muscle of the heart, and are responsible for the rate and rhythm of the heartbeat.
These electrical vibrations are recorded on the electrocardiogram, the machine used for the diagnosis of many heart conditions.
The spread of these electrical impulses can be blocked by some defect. When this occurs, abnormal patterns are seen on the ECG. This is known as a "bundle branch block."

There are different kinds of bundle branch blocks. They vary in importance and severity. Before any treatment can be started, the exact reason for the interference with normal electrical conductivity through the heart muscle must be established.

Can emotional problems be responsible for lower back pain?
Mrs. G.J., La.
I have repeatedly pointed out that the emotions play a role in all physical illnesses.
There is no separation of the body and the mind. They interact with each other and affect each other. Although it is possible that low back pain may be emotional, in origin, it must be emphasized that there must be a complete study in order to locate its exact cause. And it must be emphasized that low back pain must not be automatically attributed to an emotional cause when a physical cause is not immediately found.

Far too many people are condemned to a psychological diagnosis, only because the physical origin of low back pain has evaded diagnosis.

Can tiny spider veins of the legs be treated by injections?
Mrs. L.M., N.H.
Dear Mrs. M.:
Larger varicose veins of the legs can, in some instances, be treated by injecting them with sclerosing solutions. The very tiny "spider" blood vessels that are seen in some women cannot, however, be satisfactorily injected and removed by the same type of treatment.
Many people use a covering cosmetic rather than get involved with complicated forms of treatment.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Thailand finished 19th and Lebanon 28th in the 33-nation 1968 World Olympiad, but together they produced one of the most sensational hands of the tournament when they met head-on late in the event.

The fireworks on the accompanying deal started at the first table when the Lebanese South (Fahss) opened the bidding with four hearts. West (Samboun) invoked the unusual notrump convention (rightly or not) to show exceptional length in the minor suits by overcalling four hearts with four notrump. North (Bedros) had serious doubts that four notrump could be made, and he expressed them by doubling. East (Tularak) elected to respond with five clubs at this point. This was a very questionable procedure on his part; with no strong preference for either minor he should have passed and allowed West to choose the trump suit.

When five clubs rolled around to North, he again expressed his doubts that the opponents could make what they had bid.

Everybody passed and South led the king of hearts, followed by the eight of spades. North won with the ace, cashed the A-K-Q-10 of clubs, thus exhausting all the adverse trumps, and reverted to hearts, permitting South to cash his seven remaining hearts. So East failed to take a trick and went down eleven — 2,100 points!

At the second table, the Thai South likewise elected to open the bidding with four hearts. Here West followed the more conservative course of passing and North took a shot at six hearts. This contract failed when West cashed the A-K of diamonds to put the slam down one. So the outcome was that Thailand lost 2,200 points on the deal.

Two youths injured in rural collision

A 15-year-old Fayette County youth was involved in an accident Sunday afternoon which resulted in his injury and the injury of his passenger.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Carroll W. Blanton Jr., 15, U.S. 22-E, failed to negotiate a left curve while traveling northwest on Hess Road, six miles from the Woods Road intersection, at 12:45 p.m. Sunday.

The auto traveled off the right side of the road, hit a fence belonging to Alvin Armintrout, 1760 Hess Rd., and flipped on its top.

Blanton and his passenger, Bryan O. Elliott, 15, U.S. 22, were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and treated and released; Blanton, for pain in the neck and right leg and Elliott, for pain in the neck, lacerations and scratches on the nose and forehead.

The auto was demolished in the wreck and Blanton was charged with driving without a driver's license.

Sheriff's deputies investigated four additional weekend mishaps and Washington C.H. police reported two accidents, one of which involved a minor injury of a Sabina woman.

SUNDAY, 4:15 p.m. — Slight damage was incurred by cars driven by Jennifer L. Logan, 20, Jeffersonville and Shirley M. Cornell, 39, Jeffersonville, when they struck each other at the intersection of Walnut and Maple streets in Jeffersonville.

SATURDAY, 10:30 a.m. — A car owned by John E. Bower, Lima, was struck by a hit-skip driver, believed to have been in a red pickup truck, while Bower's auto was parked at the junior fair office at the Fayette County Fairground.

A second hit-skip accident at the fairgrounds was reported at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. A car belonging to Robert L. Stout, Ashville, was moderately damaged by an unknown driver.

2:10 p.m. — A car driven by Pauline K. Bennett, 27, of 11 Greenfield-Sabina Rd.-SE, struck an auto belonging to Charles E. Carson, Leesburg, while the Carson auto was parked off Greenfield-Sabina Road, near the Washington-New Martinsburg Road intersection.

POLICE

SUNDAY, 12:18 p.m. — A rear-end collision involving a car driven by James Morris, 45, Sabina and a truck driven by Gerald L. Shull, 58, McClure, occurred on Columbus Avenue, near the Wilson Street intersection.

Morris' passenger, Barbara E. Morris, 58, Sabina, received a bruised nose in the mishap, but was not treated.

Police cited Shull for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead and reported moderate damage incurred by both vehicles.

SATURDAY, 9:55 p.m. — A car owned by John L. Beaudoin, 29, of 119 Kennedy Ave., was struck by a hit-skip driver in the 300 block of W. Court Street. Police are investigating.

Spring meeting conducted by World War I veterans

A large delegation of Barracks and Auxiliary members representing the Veterans of World War I, District 7, converged on Fayette County Sunday afternoon for the spring meeting held in Grace United Methodist Church. Hosting the festivities was Fayette County Barracks No. 2291 together with its auxiliary.

Groups came from Columbus, Newark, Lancaster, Gahanna and Delaware to join the local contingent of members. In attendance were 58 which included eight visitors. Distinguished guests were Ohio Department Commander Jason B. Keller and Mrs. Keller, Department Chief of Staff, Department of Ohio Past Commander Frank Howard and Mrs. Howard, Department Conductress, of Bucyrus; Department of Ohio Senior Vice Commander John Swinger and Mrs. Swinger, Past District 3 President, of Greenville; Mrs. Margaret Elliott, Auxiliary 1792 President and Mrs. Ruby Stevenson also of Auxiliary 1792 and District 8 Past President, of Chillicothe.

District officers were elected with Harry Lee, of Newark, succeeding Paul Bradley, of Gahanna, as commander. Local residents recognized were Harold C. Mark named district senior vice commander, and national chaplain Rev. Cloyce Copley designated as one of the trustees.

Mrs. Freda Crumm, of Columbus, became the new district auxiliary president to succeed Mrs. Clarisa Beckley, of Delaware. Those from here assigned district auxiliary offices were Mrs. Cloyce Copley, guard; Mrs. Allen Sells, flag bearer and legislative chairman; and Mrs. Hile Kennedy, color bearer. Mrs. Ruby Stevenson, of Chillicothe, installed these officers.

Raw steel output dips

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Industry Week magazine said today figures from the nation's steel mills indicate that raw steel production is being reduced to bring it into line with shipments and new orders.

"Raw steel is now being produced at an annual rate of only about 132.5 million net tons compared with annual rates of 141.6 million tons in February and 140.9 million in March," the industry weekly said.

IW said the trends "hint that steelmakers' estimates of this year's raw steel production will be as wide of the mark as their shipment estimates."

The magazine said that while production and shipments are off, "steelmakers see some reasons for optimism."
